

Guest Quotes

"What a great experience, we loved it!" Ohio

"Everyone out here is so ... so calm." Wisconsin

"No sound except wind, grass ... clear brain." Japan

"The land is so vast and empty that strangers are eagerly greeted. Business is still conducted on a handshake, and the pace is never faster than the genuine, hardworking people who live there want it to be. That, my friend, is freedom." New York

First, I completely understand that travel and living on a ranch can be risky and dangerous. For example, I realize that the weather can drastically change, trails may not be maintained, horses are unpredictable, travel and conditions are rough, dangerous, and tiring, and we will be many miles from roads where help and medical attention would be available.

Second, I understand that these risks, dangers and hardships cannot be controlled or eliminated, even with careful planning, experience, foresight, and alertness on your part. I understand that you cannot guarantee my safety or well-being.

Completely understanding this and more, I assume all dangers and risks involved in my trip with you. Further, I totally release and discharge you, your business, employees, and the like from liability and damages as a result of any bodily or personal injuries or property damage or death incurred by me on our trip, regardless of whose fault or negligence, if any, it is.

WARNING: Under Wyoming Law, an equine professional is not liable for an injury to or the death of a participant in equine activities resulting from the inherent risks of equine activities, pursuant to W.S. 1-1-126.

Saddled Up & Ready to Ride.

The Three Quarter Circle Ranch was owned by the Malmberg family up until the mid 1980s. The reins were then handed over to Tony Malmberg who now runs the day-to-day ranch operations with his wife, Andrea, hired hand, PeeWee Wesaw, and partners.

One partner, Jim Allen, lives on a nearby ranch and handles guest scheduling and booking for the Three Quarter Circle Ranch vacations. He and his wife Mary supply the ranch horses and frequently ride with the Three Quarter Circle guests & cowboys. Tony and Andrea practice holistic management and use innovative techniques to convert grass into beef while enhancing the quality of the ranch's land and wildlife habitat.

Tony and Andrea have a wonderful knack for involving guests in the excitement of land stewardship ... from the back of a good, ranch raised horse out on the open range. We run nearly 2,000 head of cattle on over 35,000 acres.
